Based on the available data and my site visit of Sept. 10, 1985, I have determined that this site at this time does not pose an imminent and substantial endangerment to the Public Health.

The current disposal area is well vegetated and erosion has been minimized. Two air stripping towers are in operation removing volatile contaminants from the ground water. Of the homes in the area of potential ground water contamination, several have been purchased by the landfill and three have been provided alternative water supplies. The wells of the remaining homes have been shown not to be contaminated.

The landfill is in the process of constructing a lined cell for future municipal trash landfilling. From my observations this will be a state-of-the-art facility and should minimize any problems in the future.
